Wintercroft mask template free download Sophia is the managing editor of the Make: blog. These animal masks made by Steve and Marianne Wintercroft are a perfect example. You just download a template, print it out, and follow the pattern as you cut out the shapes in heavy cardstock. No energy is wasted on manufacturing or shipping since all you need is a downloadable file. While I could see these masks being great for lots of different types of festivals or parties, Steve was inspired to make the first one specifically for Halloween. He says. Then sat down with some parcel tape, a pair of scissors and plenty of hot tea. An hour or so later and after some trial and error I had made myself an animal mask. The mask was well received so I decided to redesign it and make the templates available and accessible to everyone. The goal was to create a set of masks that could be built by anyone, using local materials, removing the need for mass manufacturing or shipping and with the minimum environmental impact. Kennedy shared this Instructables project that shows you how to do just that. Thanks, Sean! Latest Sophia Smith. By Sophia Smith Sophia Smith. Related Stories from Make:. Dragon papercraft mask I made a low poly wolf mask out of paper and now I want to share it with You guys. It fits a child's head, but You can always scale it up, using 3D computer graphics software like Blender. Did you use this instructable in your classroom? Add a Teacher Note to share how you incorporated it into your lesson. To create the 3D low poly model I used Blender. It's free and it has a lot of functionalities. I attached a. If You want to change the dimensions just change the scale. Then unfold the 3D model. It will be divided into islands in this case 29 islandsand Blender will add flaps on their edges to allow You to glue them together. After unfolding, You have to export the paper model, preferably in a. You can also do all this in Pepakura, but I found that it adds unnecessary edges to models, so I try to avoid using it. You have to carefully cut it out. I prefer scissors, but You can use a utility knife. Be very precise with the edges without any flaps. But when it comes to flaps, I like to add some area, to make it easier to connect the pieces later. I use stick glue to join all the pieces together. Blender marks them to make it easier to find them, but I like to use the 3D model to do this. When You finish gluing all the pieces together, it should look like this. Do not worry if it got covered in glue. You will probably want to paint over it. If so, i recommend acrylic paint. Reply 4 months ago. Question 1 year ago on Step 5. How does the numbers work's? I understand that the first one is the island, but the second, how does it say in which part i should glue. Answer 9 months ago. Reply 3 years ago. I believe that the numbers on the flaps are first - the number of the island You need to find, and second - the number of the spot You need to connect the two pieces at. You probably should have an open pdf file while doing this. Wintercroft mask pdf Turning my Papercraft Skull into a mask was something that was pretty obvious. So here it is: My Papercraft Skull-Mask! Or both, or Did you use this instructable in your classroom? Add a Teacher Note to share how you incorporated it into your lesson. All the parts have score-lines that have to be folded either up or down. The skull is built inside out, so that you won't see the print on the outside. So most lines have to be folded up. The skull is basically a ball with convex folds. I labeled all parts with a name and used two symbols to mark where to align the parts to be glued. Circles mark self connecting faces of a part. If a part has two circles, these two go together. I start with those. Check all parts and see if there are circles on it - if so, glue them together. Squares mark where two different parts go together. They are each marked with the name of the part they connect to. Before you put a string or rubber-band to the mask it is a good idea to reinforce the part where the hole will go. Take a piece of scrap paper, fold it and glue it together. Then cut out a triangle roughly the size of the triangle you want to put the hole in. Either wear it as it is or use your imagination to draw or paint on it. Question 2 months ago on Introduction. I made it! Distinguishing the blue vs. Also I had a hard time figuring out the cheek, mouth and jaw junction. I colored the mouth black to hide flaws and make it look more spooky. Which are the valleys and which are the mountain folds? Reply 4 years ago on Introduction. Reply 5 years ago on Introduction. I must have changed the colors somewhere along the design process. What is red on the photos is blue on the PDF, sorry for that. Where does the instructable become unclear? I've tried to make it descriptive, where does it need to be more precise? Because no matter where they are, a warm meal is likely to present itself. Dragons are an important link in the food chain. They have no natural predators and can fly around the world in no time, sporadically swooping down for a snack of villagers. You can do the same with this amazing Full Mask. This is essential for population control and keeps the infestation of humans down to sustainable levels. The Wolf Mask allows one to howl at the moon in style and growl into the night. When the midnight eye gleams the hex and hunger awaken within. This is a Full Mask for a Full Moon. Wintercroft masks free The prize amounts awarded for prediction wins are standardized amounts for each game type. For example, the 4-of-6 prize for Pick 6 in New Jersey is the same as the 4-of-6 prize amount for Pick 6 in every other state. A straight Pick 3 win in California is the same amount as a straight hit in any other state. This prize standardization lets our members compare prize ratios between states.
