Dolch sight words for 2nd grade. 2nd grade dolch sight word activities. Dolch basic sight words for grade 2.

Do your second graders need more fun, meaningful word work? These second grade sight word worksheets are perfect for mastering high frequency words. Second Grade Sight Word Worksheets As students are working to master second grade Dolch sight words, they need a lot of opportunities to work with words. These free printable second grade sight word worksheets are jam-packed with learning opportunities. Use them to introduce new words or to spiral review words throughout the year. After your students have mastered the words on the first grade sight word list, they are ready to graduate to these second grade sight word worksheets. There are 7 word work activities on each page, so students will know what is expected of them each time. The more consistent the routine, the more independent your learners will be. Each work activity on the printable worksheet allows students to work with the words in various ways and use different learning styles. They'll gain confidence as they read the word, trace the word, write the word, and build the word. Not only are these sight word worksheets easy to implement in your classroom, but they don't require any prep beyond simply printing. That makes them a perfect daily activity for working on sight words. As your students are learning to read, these can be used as morning work, during your literacy block, as an independent learning center, an early finisher activity, or homework. Your students will be mastering their 2nd grade sight words and sailing on to 3rd grade in no time. Prep in Seconds These free, printable sight word worksheets are super fast and easy to get ready for your students. All you need to do is print and go. Since they're so fast, you can prep a whole month, quarter, or even year at a time. You can separate them in file folders, baskets, or whichever system works for you so you can grab them and go whenever you need them. These sight word worksheets come in black and white. Therefore, you can use them even if you don't have access to colored copies. If you're using these sight word worksheets digitally via Google Classroom, Seesaw, etc., you can upload the PDF into your learning platform ahead of time with the words you want your students to work on. Another option is to have the students complete the worksheet and submit a picture to your learning platform. Either way works great for digital learning. Differentiated Second Grade Sight Word Activities As second grade students are learning to read and getting ready for third grade, they need a lot of practice and exposure to high frequency words. These sight word worksheets are so versatile and easy to use, so you can add them to your literacy lessons or word work activities to encourage more sight word learning. These sight word worksheets follow the Dolch second grade sight word list. However, if you have students in first grade who are ready to take on more challenging words, these worksheets can be used to meet their needs. This goes for third grade students who may need to work more in depth on the second grade words. As teachers, you know your students and their needs best and can find the appropriate sight word activities for them. Once you determine which words they need to work on most, you can assign those sight word worksheets for them to master before moving on to new words. You can use these sight word worksheets during a variety of instructional settings, such as: Morning workWhen introducing sight wordsWord work Literacy centersLeveled reading groupsSmall groupsSpiral reviewExit ticketSpiral reviewHomeworkDistance learning If you have students who are mastering the words on the 2nd grade sight words list, you can extend the learning to challenge them. After they complete the sight word activity, they can read a leveled reader that focuses on using that sight word and practice writing the sight word in complete sentences. These second grade sight word worksheets go even deeper than your typical flash card rote memory practice. Students are getting more opportunities to build, read, and write sight words. You can even have them complete their worksheets in colored pencil, crayon, or marker to add creativity and engagement. Using the Sight Word Worksheets To use the free printable second grade sight word worksheets, students will begin by reading the sight word of focus. They will move on and trace the word, following the arrows to ensure they're writing the word with proper technique and directionality. Then they'll write the word on the line. Next up, students get to use their artistic talents as they decorate the word written in bubble letters. They will become word detectives next as they search, find, and circle the sight word hidden in the word search. Using magnifying glasses and highlighters for this activity would be super fun for them! After that, the students will look at the letters of the alphabet and color in the letters that spell the sight word. To wrap up the sight word practice, they'll fill in the missing letters in the words at the bottom of the worksheet to spell the word correctly. As you can see, there are a lot of great sight word learning opportunities in each sight word worksheet. Effective learning, fast prep, and easy differentiation makes for a perfect sight word activity! I hope your students enjoy practicing second grade sight words with these worksheets. He studied the high frequency words that appeared in children's books in the 1930s and 40s and used his research to compile these lists. There are 46 second grade Dolch words: always, around, because, been, before, best, both, buy, call, cold, does, don't, fast, first, five, found, gave, goes, green, its, made, many, off, or, pull, read, right, sing, sit, sleep, tell, their, these, those, upon, us, use, very, wash, which, why, wish, work, would, write, your Dolch Second Grade Sight Word List Simple sheet with the 46 second grade words listed. Dolch Second Grade Sight Words Printable Cards (12 pages) Larger printable list for flashcards, assembling into a mini-book or display, etc. Dolch Second Grade Sight Words Another second grade word list. Click here to find more: In 1936, Edward William Dolch published his list of what he called "Sight Words." Dolch, an advocate of the "whole word reading" approach, argued that his list of 220 words were used in up to 75% of all school texts, libraries, newspapers and magazines. This is why I made sure to point out that the year was 1936. Ours is a living and constantly changing language. What was common in storybooks then may not be as common for today's children. I have the Fry 100 Words and worksheets in a separate post. Critics of this list argue that memorization is tough work for kids. It also discourages decoding and using phonemes. Why are Dolch Sight Words important? Well, even if you account for the societal changes since 1936, these are still very commonly used words. The words are still important. But, modern day pedagogy and data tells us that we should be teaching our kids a different way. Fifty years ago, children were routinely given flash cards of these sight words and just told to memorize them. Now we know that is not possible for all students. At the time when children were being encouraged to memorize these 'sight words,' it was thought that reading would then come easier to them. Since the Dolch list was very commonly used words, his philosophy was that if those words were memorized, children could then focus on the other, less familiar, words in the text that they were reading. Again, critics of a 'whole word approach' disagree with this. Are Dolch words still taught? Yes, but with less emphasis on memorization. The list can be quite useful if children are direct taught with an explicit phonics approach. Phonics is a way of teaching children how to read and write. It helps children hear, identify and use different sounds that distinguish one word from another. Phonics involves matching the sounds of spoken English with individual letters or groups of letters. What ages are Dolch Sight Words for? Dolch sight words are used in pre-K and primary grades. I will say this-If, by 3rd grade, your child is struggling with the Dolch sight words, I strongly suggest an evaluation for learning disabilities. Reading problems tend to explode around 2nd or 3rd grade and you want to close that gap as soon as possible. That's not to say your child should have them memorized by second or third grade. However, he/she should be able to read them by that age. If they cannot, then there may be some decoding or phoneme issues. Difference Between Dolch Sight Words and Fry Words The Dolch list 'feels' like it is used more frequently than the Fry list. Though I have no hard data to support that, it's just more common. The Fry list is 1000 words, so much larger. That can be good and bad I supposed. The Dolch sight words list is for grades K-2. Fry is grades 3-9. What are the Dolch Sight Words? The list contains 220 service words (non-nouns) plus 95 high-frequency nouns. These words comprise 80% of the words you would find in a typical children's book and 50% of the words found in writing for adults. Some teachers use the 1000 Instant Word List prepared in 1979 by Edward Fry instead of Dolch's list.
