Heating/cooling curve worksheet answer key

Regents Questions-HIGHLIGHT TO REVEAL ANSWERS 8/021 The solid and liquid phases of water can exist in a state of equilibrium at 1 atmosphere of pressure and a temperature of (1) 0oC (2) 100oC (3) 273oC (4) 373oCANSWER--->The melting point of water is 0oC or 273K2 Given the equation: H2O(s) H2O(l) At which temperature will equilibrium exits when the atmospheric pressure is 1 atm? (1) 0 K (2) 100 K (3) 273 K (4) 373 KANSWER--->The melting point of water is 0oC or 273K3 The table below shows the normal boiling point of four compounds.Which compound has the strongest intermolecular forces? (1) HF(l) (2) CH3Cl(l) (3) CH3F(l) (4) HCl(l)ANSWER--->HF The higher the boiling Point the stronger the force of attraction between the molecules A sample of water is heated from a liquid at 40oC to a gas at 110oC.a) On the heating curve diagram provided above, label each of the following regions:Liquid, only ; Gas, only; Phase changeb) For section QR of the graph, state what is happening to the water molecules as heat is added.c) For section RS of the graph, state what is happening to the water molecules as heat is added. ANSWER a-->QR-liquid only RS-Phase Change ST Gas onlyANSWER b-->QR-Kinetic Energy increasesANSWER c-->RS- Potential Energy Increases3 The graph below represents the heating curve of a substance that starts as a solid below its freezing point.What is the melting point of this substance? (1) 30oC (2) 55oC (3) 90oC (4) 120oCANSWER-->55 degrees the lower plateau is the melting/freezing point8/03Base your answers to questions 59 through 62 on the information below Given the heating curve where substance X starts as a solid below its melting point and is heated uniformly; 59 Identify the process that takes place during line segment DE of the heating curve.ANSWER-->Vaporization, boiling or phase change. NOT evaporation (that occurs below the boiling point).60 Identify a line segment in which the average kinetic energy is increasing.ANSWER-->AVG. KE is temp, AB CD or EF61 Using "o" to represent particles of substance X, draw at least five particles as they would appear in the substance at point F.ANSWER-->The five particles would be spread out.62 Describe, in terms of particle behavior or energy, what is happening to substance X during line segment BC.ANSWER-->The particles are increasing in potential energy. Base your answers to questions 54 and 55 on the heating curve below, which represents a substance starting as a solid below its melting point and being heated at a constant rate over a period of time.54 What is happening to the average kinetic energy of the particles during segment BC?ANSWER--->Since Avg. KE is Temperature, it remains the same.55 How does this heating curve illustrate that the heat of vaporization is greater than the heat of fusion?ANSWER--->Segment DE is Longer than BC. More energy requires more time. NOT DE is at a higher temp. 6/05 17 In which process does a solid change directly into a vapor? (1) condensation (2) sublimation (3) deposition (4) solidification ANSWER--> Choice 2 Sublimation Perhaps you came via online search engine then you locate this site as well as made a decision to visit this web site many thanks for that. It represents the heating of substance x at a constant rate of heat transfer.
