But if you cannot see either, you will have to click the back button on your browser and download the file without opening it in your browser. Here is how: If you are a PC user: Right-click the link. Then select "save target as" or "save link as." Then choose a location on your computer, such as documents or downloads, where you would like to save the file. Select "Save." If you are a Mac user: Press your control key (CTRL) and click on the link. Wait for the options menu to appear, then click on "download link to disk" or "download linked file." Choose a location on your computer where you want to store the file. Once selected, your computer will download the file. You now have to open the file from your computer. Follow these steps in order to open your file from your computer. Right click on your PDF document. Select "Open with." Select "Choose program." Select "Adobe Acrobat Reader."   Check the box that says "Always use this program to open these files." Select "OK." In the case that your PDF document opens up blank or gives you an error message, you will have to try the following: Try to use a different browser to open up your PDF document. Update your Internet Explorer. Versions 5 through 8 of Internet Explorer have been known to cause problems. In fact, Microsoft has a documented issue with opening PDF files and other documents from secure websites like your MyCIC Account. This is due to problems with the cache control headers and requires you to make changes to your registry. This must be done very carefully, as any changes to your computer's registry can cause serious problems if you modify the registry in an incorrect manner. Go here to see Microsoft's instructions in this regard and follow the instructions very carefully. It is preferable to instead update your Internet Explorer if possible. If you still are having problems opening your PDF file, go here to find instructions on how to send IRCC an email so that they can help you solve your problem. Once your form is now open in PDF format, you can proceed to enter your information in the appropriate form fields. These are the little boxes on the form where you directly type the relevant information in. Then click the "Validate" button (if applicable) that will be located at the top or at the bottom of your online application form. If the form does not validate, then you will have to follow a series of instructions that will appear after you click on the "Validate" button. Once the form has been validated, a page of barcodes will be created. If you are submitting your form by mail, you merely print your completed forms and put them in your package along with your supporting documents. If you are submitting your application online, follow the bellow instructions: Do not print the application. Do not use the "Signature Panel" button at the top of your application form. Instead, save the form on your computer, and then upload it to your MyCIC Account. After you have uploaded all the required forms, a "Next" button will appear below your uploaded documents. These next 2 steps are called the Electronic Signature. Click on the "Next" button and you will then be prompted to: Enter your given name and your last name, exactly as they are on your application form. For children under the age of 18, your parent or guardian must electronically sign your application form. Answer a security question. Your security question will be 1 of the 4 questions you created when you registered for your MyCIC Account. Answer the question exactly as you did when you registered your MyCIC Account. You have now electronically submitted and signed your documents with Immigration, Refugees and Citizenship Canada. Good luck with your application!
