"We'll tell you the subjects who are more popular, most of the score or has the highest rate of success. There are many factors to consider before selecting the best optional topic for IAS exams such as syllabi, the time available for the Preparation and your interest. The program of subjects offered by USC is from It starts halfway between graduate levels and pg. It also allows optional subjects easier for the UPSC electric network. There are some topics that are more dotted than others. However, if we us The largest image, IAS tippers have obtained 320+ in technical and non-technical subjects. The reason why some subjects are perceived as a low score is that candidates are unable to put into the required effort or who have chosen an optional matter that is right for them. Technical subjects (such as mathematics) can retrieve high brands as the answers are absolute. Basically, unlike human subjects, prejudices or examiner preferences have less a role to play. However, non-technical subjects, especially those who have a certain overlap with the GS program, provide more preparation time and reading material in general, thus increasing the general network score if studied well. There are many factors to decide which is the best optional subject in USCS. Before deciding on a topic, a candidate must ask himself the following six questions. How much is the optional program? How much preparing time do you have? Do you have an advance knowledge of the subject to the degree level / pg? How much overlapping Syllabus is there between your optional choice and GS part in Prelims / Mains? Are study materials and coaching readily available? Do you have the Drive / Interest requirement to study the UPSC exam object? Depending on the answers to the aforementioned questions, a candidate should make a choice, "individual" regarding the best optional in Usec for them. The following topics are popular among the aspiring IAS both technical and non-technical due to the High overlap with GS or other parts of the UPSC examination: the public administration À € à, - "Syllabus highly relevant, compact, card II (Indian administration) has a lot of overlap with part of policy and governance in GS II. Sociology À € à, - "The study of the company, a lot of material that can be used in GS I, wise and even in ethical paper. History - Relevant for Prelims and GS I. Geography - Relavant for Prelims and GS Sciences Policies Relevant for preliminaries and the law of GS II II, relevant for preliminaries and optional GS II also in USCS as the economy, philosophy and agriculture are also good choices. Agriculture Agriculture Agriculture Agriculture Outdoors Agriculture Agriculture Civil Geology Geology Trade Economy Engineering Geography Geography Geography Geology Geology Geology Geology Geology Geology History Sociology Psychology Psychology Plum Sociology Sociology Sociology Mechanics Sociology Management Sociology Mechanics Sindhi Zoology Assamese Bengali Tamil Bodo Hindi Konkani Telugu Dashmiri Kannada Matihili Urdu Gujarati Kashmiri Malasalam English Italiano Important to go to choose first What to choose the subject opzi Oning in USC, go through the list of all optional subjects. Consider your most loved arguments. Think of every topic you have passed expectations, in what topic you showed more interest, where matter you got great votes during your school days. See which news parts are interested more interested. Think of GS subjects you like more. Some people love history, some like politics / sociology and continue to pursue those books as if they were making masters in those arguments. Consider shortly listing as an alternative subject. Some people have a pastime to read the literature of their mother tongue. How to collect from the initial list of the optional subject in USCS based on the aforementioned criteria, prepare a list of 4-5 subjects that you think you have interest. Now, it passes through the program of each alternative subject. Read all topics precisely. Emphasize / highlight the points you think you know something about or have a bit of interest for the program of each topic short. Now pass through the application documents of the previous year (3-4 years) of the selected subjects. Read all questions. Then again, measured the à €
