Apart from this, there were a host of changes including the reduced time limit (2 hours instead of 3 hours) and the paper pattern being unknown. One thing which remained the same was the sections: Verbal Ability and Reading Comprehension (VARC) Data Interpretation and Logical Reasoning (DILR) Quantitative Aptitude (QA) The number of question in the CAT Question Paper 2020 was reduced to 76 questions with 26 questions each in VARC and QA while DILR accounted for 24 questions. The table given below shows the trends of the number of non-MCQs over the past few years. Year Number of non-MCQs CAT 2016 33 CAT 2017 26 CAT 2018 25 CAT 2019 26 CAT 2020 17 (Number of questions reduced from 100 to 76) The number of non-MCQs in CAT has been around 25-26 in recent times with a dip to 17 due to the reduced number of questions in CAT 2020. This can be a double-edged sword for the aspirants since the non-MCQs offered a chance for aspirants to attempt the questions without any penalty but the lack of options also increased the difficulty of the question. Apart from this, the CAT Exam pattern for the past 3 CAT Previous Years Question Papers has remained the same. CAT 2019 did not throw any surprises in terms of the CAT exam pattern. In terms of the level of difficulty, VARC was slightly trickier compared to last year, with 2 passages on the difficult side. Both DILR and Quant were slightly easier than last year. Overall, the paper was slightly less difficult, as compared to CAT 2018. An overall raw score of around 157-160 should fetch a 99%ile in CAT 2019. CAT 2019 Slot 2 was similar to Slot 1 in terms of the level of difficulty. VARC was definitely tougher than CAT 2018 with a 99%ile at around 60-62 marks. DILR was 1-2 questions easier than last year with a 99%ile at 46-49 marks. The level of difficulty of QA was between that of CAT 2017 and CAT 2018. 99%ile in QA would be anywhere between 57 and 60 marks. Overall, the paper was similar of 1-2 questions easier than last year. A 99%ile will be at around 158-160. The CAT 2020 Paper was significantly different from the other CAT Previous Year Papers. The reduced time limit and questions meant that the cut off reduced to a degree. In terms of the sectional difficulty level, the VARC section of CAT 2020 was similar in terms of difficulty to the VARC section in CAT 2019. The DILR section of CAT 2020 was quite tricky with the level of difficulty being similar to the DILR section of CAT 2016-18. The QA section was similar in terms of difficulty level to the QA section of CAT 2019. The reduced questions and time limit meant that the cut off in terms of the value was reduced and a 99%ile could be obtained at a score of around 105. CAT 2020 CAT 2019 CAT 2018 CAT 2017 CAT 2016 %ile Score Score Score Score Score 99 104 160 154 174 156 95 100 125 121 138 123 90 90 100 108 103 118 105 80 80 85 79 93 82 As this table shows, the cutoff shifts by a huge amount depending on the level of difficulty of the paper. With the easy paper in 2017, 150 would have been only a mediocre score but with the same score in a more difficult paper of CAT 2016 or CAT 2018, it would have been almost equal to a 99%ile. CAT 2019 was somewhere in between CAT 2017 and CAT 2018 with the 99%ile, 95%ile and 90%ile mark lying in between the values in the corresponding years. CAT 2020 is an aberration since the pattern changed during for this CAT Exam.
